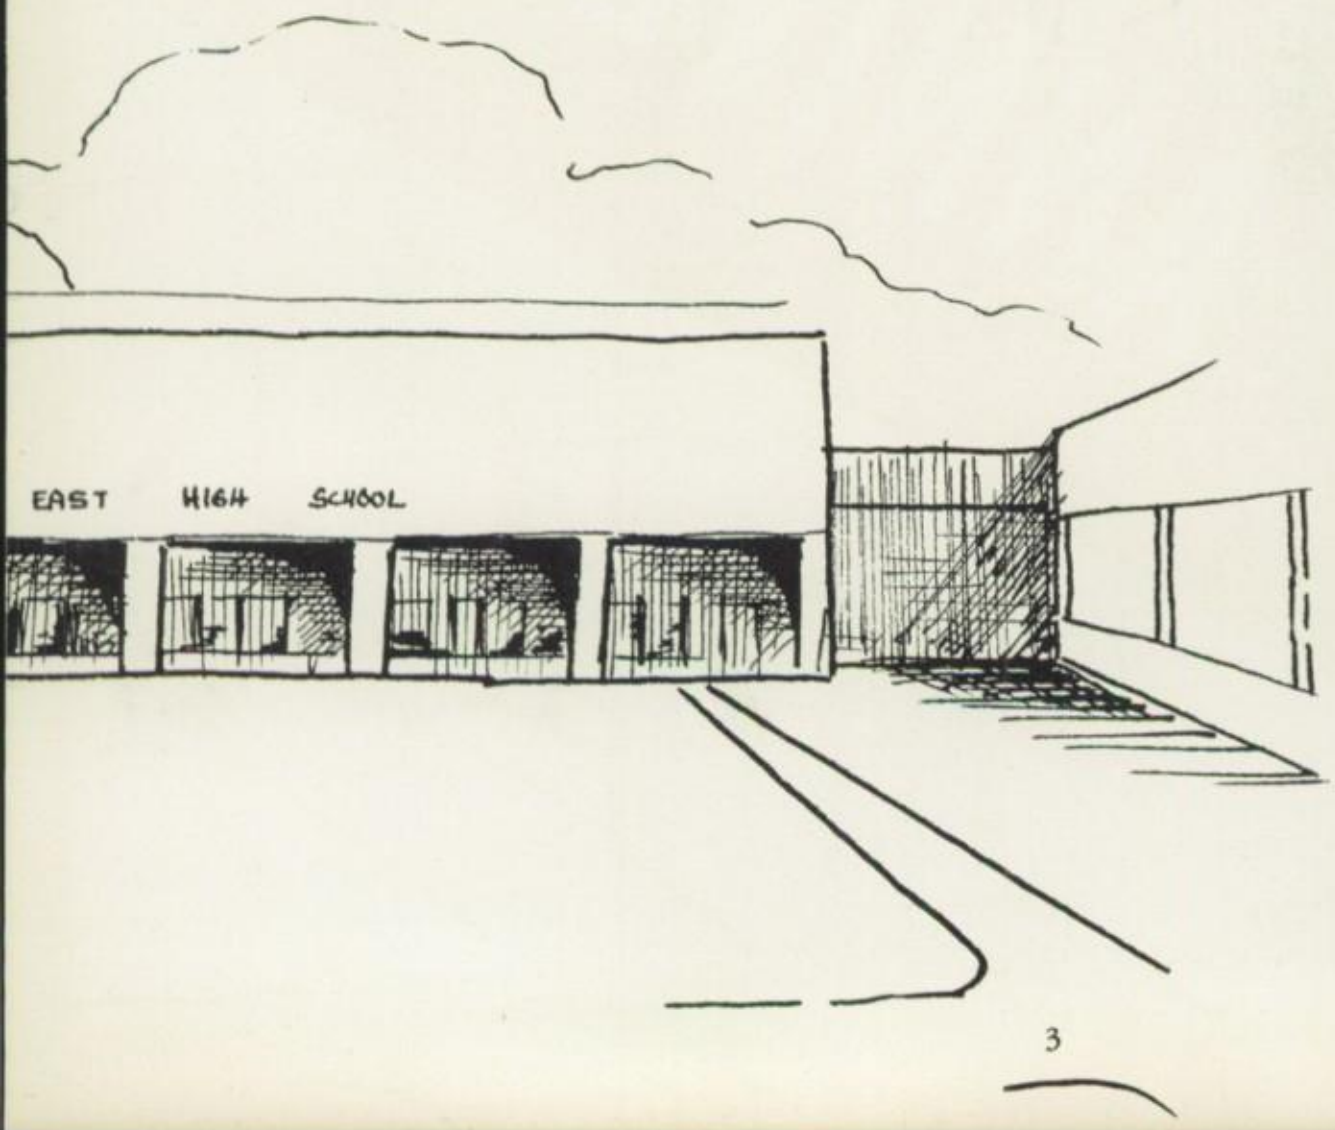
EAST HIGH SCHOOL

Rochester New York

1903 60th ANNIVERSARY

YEARBOOK 1963



Foreword

On this sixtieth anniversary of East High School we look back on a history of outstanding achievement in all areas of school activity. The key to East's continual success is the persistant and unfailing Spirit of Progress which has perpetually instilled itself in the hearts and lives of her administration, faculty, and student body. East has resolutely marched upward through three administrations, each one bringing creative change to East in an effort to reach the highest peak of educational development by means of the most modern methods, attitudes, and equipment. Today, 1963, East is riding the crest of one of the most sweeping educational advancements in her history, and as we project into the future we are sure that this relentless drive forward will continue even more vigorously than it has in the past. It is only natural that this 1963 ORIENT, itself a link between an outstanding history of sixty years and a future promising even greater achievement, have as its theme this Spirit of Progress which is so much the Spirit of East High.

Dedication

The name of C. Bennett Daly is one with which every East High student is familiar and yet, despite this uniformity of acquaintance, C. Bennett Daly, the man, presents a different picture to each person he knows. To a sports fan he is a great soccer and basketball coach, to a son of a veteran, he is a devoted American Legionnaire, to a student in trouble he is a friendly counselor. Each of these images is in part, Mr. Daly, yet no one gives the full picture of this truly outstanding man. Words can never be created to adequately describe the outstanding service Mr. Daly has given to East High students in his twenty-three years here. Perhaps the true feeling of us at East for "Ben" can only be understood if we recall an assembly of the last school year. At this one assembly, Mr. Daly, while accepting another of his many awards, became the only person in history to receive a standing ovation from an East High audience. With this one thought in mind, the staff of the 1963 Orient humbly dedicates this sixtieth anniversary yearbook to Mr. C. Bennett Daly, friend, soldier and counselor.

MR. CLARK

Five years ago the class of 1963 entered East High as eighth graders. That fall of 1958 marked the beginning of Mr. Charles N. Clark's leadership as principal, and under his guidance our school and our class have progressed into a new educational era.

Mr. Clark is vitally interested in helping all of his students to achieve the best possible education. This attitude, this desire to give each student an education geared to that individual's own abilities and needs has made East High the progressive institution which it has become.

Mr. Clark's real interest in both our education and our activities has given us many opportunities to develop our potentialities. He takes the time to listen to our problems and ideas, and although he is willing to offer his assistance when we ask for help, he does not interfere with our attempts to solve our own problems unless a real need exists.

Mr. Clark's understanding of and concern for our desires and goals, as individuals, as a class, and as a school has been an inspiration and encouragement to us.

Vice-principal Fred R. Myers

Counselors guide

MR. MYERS

The Vice-Principal is, in his own words, a kind of "utility left-fielder". It is his job to "fill-in" on administrative details, and his specific responsibilities range from scheduling and seating of assemblies and periodic classroom visitation to carrying on fire inspection, making out January and June exam schedules, and registering the young men of the school for selective service. In addition to these and innumerable other duties, Mr. Myers is head of the Guidance Department and is the person designated to take care of all unusual discipline cases.

Mr. Myers' wide range of responsibilities makes him an invaluable asset to the administration of East. To East High students, however, he is more than a busy administrator. His cheerfulness and friendliness have made him for many years one of the best liked persons at East.

EAST HIGH'S GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

The guidance department has developed into one of the most essential services of our modern school system. In the past guidance was provided by the individual teacher and the principal, and actual planning for post-high school activities had to be done by the student and his parents. In the smaller schools this did not present too great a problem, but as the high schools began to increase in size and offer a greater range of subjects there developed a need for specialized personnel to help the student choose his courses wisely and to organize the information on colleges, jobs, and other post-high school activities for the students' use. Until 1947 there were no guidance counselors, and even as late as 1957 there were only three part-time advisers in the Guidance Department.

Today the department has expanded in an effort to meet the needs of East's nearly 3,000 students. There are now six counselors working full-time on guidance, one for each grade level, and one for the students in the honors program and the last several students in the larger classes. This gives each guidance teacher responsibility over about 475 students.

The responsibilities of the Guidance Department are many. The counselors carry on a group guidance program through General Education classes, Health 11 classes, homerooms, and class meetings. They do personal counseling with their students on matters such as program plans and changes and post-high school planning, and they serve as a link between the student and colleges, industry, and community employment and guidance agencies. The guidance teacher must also handle all the information about his students such as report cards, cumulative record folders, activity cards, character estimate blanks, psychological service reports, and test scores. Finally, they provide important information for the student through folders and leaflets on vocational opportunities, collections of college catalogs, guidance bulletin boards, bulletins to homerooms, movies, aptitude and preference tests, and individual conferences.

With all this to offer, it is no wonder that guidance is so vital a part of our school.

MR. GUGLIN

When in 1958 guidance was made a full-time job, the class of 1963, then in its freshman year, became the responsibility of Mr. Ted Guglin. For four years Mr. Guglin has worked with us to help map out programs which will fit into our plans for the future. Through many hours of group guidance, individual counselling, research, and compiling of records and information, Mr. Guglin has spent this last year especially trying to pull us up to necessary requirements and to start us down the road to fulfillment of these plans. Looking back on our high school careers, we realize that Mr. Guglin's interest, experience, and hard work have played an important part in bringing them to successful completion.

Special tasks

OUR ADVISERS

The four East High advisers have a very special task to perform. In addition to being the watchdogs of student behavior, they counsel any student needing help in solving personal problems. They have become confidants to every type of individual.

The East advisers have come to be an indispensable part of everyday life at our school. They have been a source of guidance and encouragement to all. Through the years we have been fortunate in having advisers who not only perform their assigned duties well, but go far beyond those duties in helping the students that come to them.

Mr. Don Youngman

MR. YOUNGMAN

Mr. Youngman came to East High as a coach in 1951. In 1962 he was promoted to the position of Boys' Adviser, His loss to the teams has been well compensated for, because he has become an inspiration to all the boys he works with.

MISS CARNAHAN

Miss Carnahan was added to the administration in 1960. Despite her often abrupt manner with wayward students, her warm smile and sense of humor are those of a true friend. We hope that as the years pass, they will become traditions at East High.

Miss Patricia Carnahan

Miss Ann Bassett and Mr. Henry DiClemente are as traditional at East High as the Alma Mater. Throughout their years at East, they have been not only advisers but friends to all the students who have known them. On this, our school's sixtieth anniversary, the Class of 1963 pays a special tribute to Miss Bassett and Mr. DiClemente for the outstanding work they have done for East High School and the community.

Miss Ann Bassett

MISS BASSETT

Miss Bassett began her work at East as an English teacher in 1927. Since then she has become Girls' Adviser. With Miss Bassett's ageless vigor, there is little doubt that she will continue to help East High girls for another thirty-six years.

Mr. Henry DiClemente

MR. DiCLEMENTE

Mr. DiClemente, better known as "Deke," has been at East since 1935. During his twenty-eight years, he has helped students in many ways, far above and beyond his official duties as Boys' Adviser. Deke's tireless devotion and warm humor have made him a friend to all at East.

SPECIAL SERVICES

The various individuals who are a part of Special Services make up a team whose abilities are used to help students with their problems. Each of the individuals is equipped to handle a particular problem that may face a student. The services they offer are open to any student who feels he is in need of them.

Of special note is the fact that Mrs. Helen Ikeler retired in January after twenty-two years of service as the East High School psychologist.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The English Department has expanded greatly within the last four years at East High. Drama classes, Speech classes, Composition classes, and the regular English classes are under the expert guidance of over twenty teachers. The members of this group have received Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, and Master of Arts degrees from all over the United States. Syracuse University, Albany University, Middlebury College, Boston College, Alfred University, and the University of Arkansas are just a few of their Alma Maters.

The community activities that interest these people are varied. Photography, the Rochester Oratorio Society, baseball, reading, sports cars, politics, and the school newspaper are a few of the activities with which our English teachers fill their time outside the classroom.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

East High School, this year, is very fortunate in having one of the largest and most capable math departments in the city. These fifteen men and women, under Mr. Watson, the department head, have continued their education at various colleges throughout the country. Among those colleges are the University of Rhode Island, the University of Michigan and, of course, the University of Rochester.

The teachers in the mathematics department have various interests in the community. One teacher transcribes and teaches braille to the blind. Others teach advanced engineering and mathematics at evening school in surrounding high schools and colleges. The hobbies of these professional people range from fishing, traveling, and gardening to music and coin collecting.

THE BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

The Business Department has expanded greatly in the past several years. We now have over thirteen teachers who have graduated from many well-known schools, such as Syracuse, Colgate, Ithaca, Russel Sage, and New York University.

The interests of these dedicated people are varied. One teacher is a member of the Business Teacher's Association; still another is Vice-President of the Central Western Zone Teachers' Associations. Others are active in the Business Club, the Student Aide Club, the Senior Class, the Sophomore Class and various community activities.

THE SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Following the progressive trend that exists at East High, the Social Studies Department has expanded to meet the varying demands of our many students. Now included in the department's curriculum are such courses as General Education for eighth graders, advanced Senior classes in Problems of Democracy, and team teaching in World History and American History.

Working to develop and coordinate these Social Studies programs is the new head of the department, Mr. J. Ernest DuBois. Mr. DuBois, who came here this fall from Franklin, is a capable and ambitious addition to the East High Faculty.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

In today's small world, it is becoming more and more imperative that foreign languages be taught. The Language Department at East High, under the guidance of Miss Flora Rizzo, Department head, has expanded to include the French, Spanish, German, Italian, Latin, and Russian languages.

Our capable teachers have received degrees from all over the world. The University of Rome, the University of Montreal, the School of German in Germany, the University of Toronto, and the University of Rochester are just a few colleges from which these people have graduated. Each day, they bring an entire country into one small classroom.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Eager to teach the students at East High the basic fundamentals of physical fitness and sportsmanship, the Physical Education Department has grown steadily. In 1962, Mr. William Bushnell became the new head of the department. Under his direction more than ten teachers have tried to keep 3,000 students fit.

This group of teachers holds many degrees from various colleges, such as Cortland, Ithaca, Brockport, and Illinois. Their community activities are numerous. One teacher is a member and chairman of Section V Athletic Council. Another advises our Traffic Safety squad. Yet another is an active member of the American Legion. Golfing, camping, dancing, and swimming are just a few of the hobbies these people enjoy in their spare time.

THE SCHOOL WORK PROGRAM

The School Work Program has become an integral part of life at East. Each year the program teaches more and more students to go out into the world and make significant contributions to our society.

The program has been expanding ever since it began and now includes a Food Service Shop and other conveniences for the faculty. We should all be proud of the School Work Program and the fine job it is doing.

THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS DEPARTMENT

Perhaps the most interesting and diverse department at East is the Industrial Arts Department. Its main purpose is to offer skilled training to those students interested in mechanical and technical careers. And yet, while achieving this purpose with complete success, it had also become a program where academic and business students can find an interesting change-of-pace subject. It can truly be said that this department is making a great contribution to the students at East.

THE SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Under the direction of Mr. Samuel Goodwin, now head of the Science Department after a year's leave of absence, new signs of progress have appeared in our school's science curriculum. The most notable addition has been the Accelerated Physics Class. Utilizing the team teaching and seminar methods, the class meets seven times a week to discuss different aspects of the subjects. Through other projects such as the science clubs, the faculty of this department has managed to lead East High to a closer understanding of the Scientific World.

smooth our paths

Within East High School, there exist several groups of people whose work helps us get through each day with a little more comfort.

The office staff works diligently each day, checking scholastic and attendance records, sending out important notices, monitoring telephone calls and doing literally hundreds of other jobs to help make the school an efficiently run organization.

The cafeteria workers perform the impossible task of preparing meals for hundreds of persons every day of the week. Following their amazing achievement of getting out three lunches, they also take on the job of clean up.

The custodial staff tends to the school's technical problems. They repair and replace broken equipment, operate the heating and plumbing systems, clean the school and, in general, make life in the rooms and halls much more livable.

These three groups deserve a large amount of credit for the work they do to make our high school life easier. Their friendly attitude and gay humor greatly contribute to making East High the best school in the city.

A NEW TRADITION

This section of the 1963 Orient marks the beginning of a new tradition in East High yearbooks. This year, the Orient staff has decided to devote a separate section to those students who have achieved academic excellence in their pursuit of knowledge.

The new Academic Section will recognize many types of achievement, ranging from scholarships to the Teen Age Diplomat program. On the following pages you will find such features as the pictures of the top ten seniors, a description of the expanding honors program, and an explanation of East High's newest educational development, team teaching.

Although the staff of the 1963 Orient hopes that this new section will serve as a recognition of those students it honors, the true purpose of the section is aimed at the underclassmen. We hope that it will serve as an incentive to eighth and ninth grade scholars, just as the more traditional Sports Section serves as an incentive to young athletes. If the Academic Section can encourage each student to study just a little harder, it will have been a success, for it will have served to kindle the spark of intellectual curiosity in a world growing ever more complacently uninquisitive.

THE CLASS OF 1963

The Class of 1963 has come to be known as a class whose members have achieved a peak of academic excellence. It has had more of its members inducted into the National Honor Society than any other class in history. It has had more winners of the N.M.S.C. Letter of Commendation than the total of the last three senior classes. Representing the best of the class have been Bob Ellison, Standard Bearer, and Bonnie Vandelinder, Guardian of the Flag. The staff of the 1963 Orient salutes these two seniors and those other members of the top ten Seniors shown below.

THE N.M.S.C. LETTERS OF COMMENDATION

Each year, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation sponsors a scholarship test for high school juniors. From the results of the test, the N.M.S.C. selects a group of about 10,000 students from across the United States to compete in further tests and presents another group of about 20,000 students with Letters of Commendation for outstanding achievement. The Class of 1963 was very proud when it was announced last October that eight seniors had won Letters of Commendation.

TWO OUTSTANDING SENIORS

Each year, hundreds of seniors enter the mad rush to get into college. The Harvard Book Award and the achievement of becoming the first member of the class to be accepted at a college are among the highest accomplishments of any such seniors. The Harvard Book Award is given each year to an outstanding junior by the Harvard Club of Rochester. Last year's winner was Steve Haas. Last June, Jane Driftmyer became the first member of the Class of 1963 to be accepted at the college of her choice. Jane has been accepted at Albright College in Reading, Pennsylvania, with a full tuition scholarship. Congratulations and good luck to both Steve and Jane!

HONORS AND ADVANCED PLACEMENT

In the past four years, the honors program has become a necessary part of the curriculum at East High. The challenge of education, and the opportunity for advancement which it presents to able, ambitious students fully warrants the commendation it has received. While these courses have great value in themselves, they are more important as a basis for further development of an educational pattern. Designed with quality in mind, the program has grown to encompass virtually all academic areas. Next year, the graduation of the original students taking part will mark the completion and achievement of the first phase of this expanding provision for academic excellance.

Advanced Placement courses, the culmination of this intensified scholastic program, offer college-level study. Their primary concern is for a more meaningful educational experience to stimulate intellectual achievement and encourage fuller development of potential.

The benefits of this program are tangible, and depend wholly on the cooperation of student, parent, and faculty. Such coordination fostering scholarly initiative promises to maintain and improve the high level of educational efficiency which this program has achieved.

EAST'S NEW LANGUAGE TECHNIQUE

In the past few years, the East High Language Department has taken a great step forward in the teaching of foreign linguistics. In almost every language, students are now being taught with a greater emphasis on the spoken word, rather than on grammar. In several classes, such as Mrs. Freeman's French class (above), students learn for a full year without ever seeing the language written down. In later years, these students will study grammar and punctuation details. This method has been shown to be very effective and we salute the Language Department and its head, Miss Rizzo, for their progressive attitude toward language education.

TEAM TEACHING

One of the newest educational concepts at East High is the Team Teaching Program. Initiated last year in the English Department on an experimental basis, it has now been expanded to include classes in physics, business, and history. Each class consists of approximately seventy-five students, to which several teachers are assigned. The classes meet in "large groups" for lectures, and break up into seminars for more individual and informal instruction.

This new method plays an important role in preparing students for the large classes which they will encounter in college. Even more important, it gives the group the benefit of several points of view, leads to more carefully planned lessons, and covers more material—all as a result of teacher conferences on the course syllabus. Furthermore, so that more topics can be adequately covered, each teacher presents lectures on those topics which he is best able to teach.

With the many advantages offered in this modern program, East High is indeed fortunate to have such a highly developed Team Teaching system.

VISITING SCHOLARS

This year, a new experiment in high school education was started at East High. The experiment, named the Visiting Scholars Program is designed to give college-bound upperclassmen a sample of the kind of classes they will encounter in trying to meet the challenge of higher education. Several times during the academic year, a college professor will come to East and lecture to a large group of students. The first of the lecturers was Doctor Hayden V. White, chairman of the University of Rochester History Department, who came here last fall to give a lecture on "Science As a Cultural Fact." Dr. White spoke to over two hundred students and teachers assembled in the Forum Room.

The Visiting Scholars Program is at present unique to East High School. The program was started by the Iota Chapter of the University of Rochester Phi Beta Kappa Society. The Iota Chapter created a committee to find out what they, as an organization, could do to encourage high school scholars toward pursuing a college education. Fortunately for East High, our principal, Mr. Clark, is a member of the Iota Chapter. The committee contacted him and he suggested that the chapter sponsor a program of lectures by college professors to high school students. The idea received immediate acceptance, and, thus, the Visiting Scholars Program was born.

Although the program is not presently completely scheduled, it is already obvious that these lectures will be of great benefit to all who attend them. East should be very grateful to know that its faculty and administration are constantly working with outside organizations to better the high educational standards of our school.

WIDE HORIZONS

Wide Horizons, now in its fifth year, is a series of lectures and discussions for high school scholars led by professors from the University of Rochester in such fields as Psychology, Philosophy, Political Science, Languages, History, and Science. This year Vicki Woerner and David Ness are East's participants. This program affords high school students an opportunity to expand upon what they have learned in classes and to explore subjects not offered in high schools.

OUR TEEN-AGE DIPLOMAT

Sabiha Hafeez

An air of the Far East has prevailed here this year as once again East High has been host to a teen-age diplomat. This year's guest, Sabiha Hafeez, has come to us from Karachi, Pakistan. She has lived with Gail Nichols and her family.

Sabiha has served her adopted school well as a member of the National Honor Society and the Library Club. Also, as an active representative to the S.G.A. Congress, she has shown her interest both in East High and in international diplomacy by offering her advice and suggestions on proposed foreign exchanges and other community projects.

Among her fondest memories at East are her recollections of this season's basketball games and the energetic efforts of our cheerleaders. The size of our school and the facilities which it offers also impressed Sabiha; she was amazed by the many opportunities we have to participate in outside activities.

In talking to Sabiha, we have all felt her genuine interest in our country. We will long remember her and hope that she will not soon forget us.

OUR DIPLOMAT TO FRANCE

Under the auspices of the Association of Teen-Age Diplomats and the Rochester-Rennes Committee, Joanne Lusink spent eight weeks in France during this past summer. Joanne was the first exchange student to go abroad from the new East High. She was also the first teen-ager to visit Rochester's sister-city, Rennes, under the Rochester-Rennes Committee sponsorship, although the committee had previously sponsored exchanges between newspapermen, businessmen, and college professors.

Besides visiting our twin city, Joanne lived in Paris, in a castle in Normandy, and in a cottage on the Atlantic. Living as a member of a French family, she was able to experience first-hand the life of a French teenager, from shopping in Paris and attending the popular American movies with the French "dubbed-in", to joining in at parties and bicycling around the streets of Normandy.

Through exchanges such as this, the youth of the world come to recognize the differences and similarities of their customs, problems, and goals. Such understanding among the leaders of tomorrow's world is the first step toward peace for tomorrow.

Joanne Lusink

OUR DIPLOMAT TO MEXICO

Through the Exchange Student Program between the United States and Mexico, Karen Schauman was able to visit our Southern Neighbor during this past summer. She lived with the family of Carmen Novoa, who had spent the previous winter here at East High.

This U.S.-Mexican exchange program is designed chiefly to enable U.S. students of Spanish and Mexican students of English to become more proficient in the language they have been studying and also to become acquainted with the people whose language they are learning. It is programs such as this that strengthen the ties between the countries of the Americas.

THE CLASS OF 1963

Two main assets have made the Class of 1963 one of the most outstanding classes to pass through East High's hallowed halls. One is the hard work of its advisers, Mr. Paul Schutt and Mrs. Edna Donovan. The second is a strong class unity created by the determination of all to make an impression on East High that would last for years to come.

The history of the Class of '63 began in the fall of 1959 when it became the first Freshman class to enter the new building and the first to organize. The newly elected officers were: Dick Gigliotti, president; Margaret Addante, vice-president; Sue DeLorm, secretary; Barb Tycha, treasurer; and Ruth Paolone, social chairman. The class's biggest undertaking that year was the highly successful dance, "Emerald Fantasia."

Following Sophomore elections, which found Les Walther elected president; Sue Lusink, vice-president; Rosemary Hayes, secretary; Debby Tilling, treasurer; and Rosalee Cullian, social chairman; the Class of 1963 began a program of expansion. The year found the class sponsoring two dances, "Wonderland by Night" in December and "Le Printemps" in April, and a most profitable candy sale.

Last year, under Junior Class president, Steve Haas, the class began important preparations for its final year at East. In addition to electing an Orient staff and making plans for certain Senior affairs, the class held a second candy sale and the traditional Junior Prom, "Lilacs by Moonlight." Other officers were: Dave Vandenbergh, vice-president; Linda Teal, secretary; Jim Fouser, treasurer; and Pete Jansson, social chairman.

The Senior year of the Class of '63 can only be measured in memories. This year, under new officers: Gordon Nacy, president; Pam Farrington, vice-president; Kay Cook, secretary; Carol Fess, treasurer; and Joan Rizzo, social chairman; the class, after only the first semester, had held a magazine sale, a stationery sale, a Junior-Senior dance, "Frosted Fantasy," and had begun planning for the Senior Tea, the Senior Banquet, and of course, the all-important Senior Ball. With such a record of achievement, there seems to be little doubt that the Class of 1963 has made a deep impression on the history of East High.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

In the earliest years of East High, student government was relatively strong. In 1915 the Student Association, as the S.G.A. was then called, made "extremely radical changes" in the constitution. In the following years, however, the importance of student government declined, and by the time of the 1930's it had disappeared from the scene. In 1939 Mr. Harold Fagan, late head of our Social Studies Department, led in writing a new constitution and setting up a working organization, the Student Government Association, which governed East High until after the move to the New East. In 1961, under President Don Adair, some long-needed changes were made in the constituition, and last year a completely revised constitution was presented by the Constitution Revision Committee, headed by Dick Michel.

Under this new constitution Dave Vandenberg was elected President of the S.G.A., and Joanne Lusink, Treasurer. Then Senior House officers were Steve Haas, Speaker; Val Gillespie, Secretary; and Jane Driftmyer, Sergeant-at-Arms. For the Junior House, Paul Ruganis was Speaker; Kathy Barney, Secretary; and Chuck Holden, Sergeant-at-Arms. These officers, under the advisership of Mr. James Powers and Mr. David Moe, had a busy year, enforcing the new constitution to the letter and coordinating and subsidizing various school activities and interests. The S.G.A. also presented the traditional Carnival, the third annual Turnabout Dance, and several all-school record hops.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior Class, under the able guidance of advisers Mr. Hunter and Miss Turpin, has had a highly successful year. The council and officers have been kept busy preparing for their big year as Seniors and at the same time providing memorable activities for the East High Juniors. The big event of the year was, of course, the Junior Prom, which topped off a spectacular Junior Day and Assembly.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

The very active Sophomore Class has had another successful year. Under the advisers Mrs. Spafford and Mr. Fisher, the class sponsored a dance in December and a candy sale early in the year which sent the class well on the way toward its financial goal for their Senior year. The traditional Sophomore Day, Assembly, and the big Sophomore Dance brought their year to a memorable close.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

Under advisers Miss Casaceli and Mr. Sternbach, the Freshman Class organized this fall and went on to complete a very successful Freshman Year. A pie sale in November and a Frosh Record Hop helped to build up the treasury of the class of '66. The big Freshman Day was held in April, climaxed by a dance in the evening.

Dear Mr. Editor:

In past issues there has been an abundance of letters criticizing the S.G.A. for not spending more money on certain things. It has become apparent that neither the Clarion nor the students realize what the S.G.A. budget consists of and why it is now on brink of financial ruin. Here

Do you know the story behind the huge red column on the Memorial Scholarship homeroom chart? The first few days Mr Ridley said that he would double the daily contributions of his homeroom D243. As the drive progressed, he agreed to put in $1.00 for every $ .25, and $5.00 for every $1.00. His homeroom contributed over $100 to the Memorial Scholarship Fund!

Rebellion, reaction and repentance. These are the three R's of the 1963 Clarion. This year, the Clarion became known as the best medium for the expression of student opinion in East High. Attacks on Congress and cliques for wrongdoings made the editorial page the most talked about item in the school. Add to this the outspoken opinions of some Clarion columnists, such as Boris, and the excellent coverage of all student events, from dances to scholarship tests, and you have one of the best school papers in the area. Congratulations to Mr. Mann and Hal Mackinder for leading the Clarion to its most successful year in history.

Well, here it is, after eight months of blood, sweat, toil and tears: the 1963 Orient. Normally, in this spot, a reader would find the usual trite statements about how a yearbook is a treasury of memories, a storehouse of ideas, a pillar of the school year. But all this misses the main point of working on a yearbook.

The Orient is people, first and foremost. The circulation staff, the advertising staff, the photographic staff—all these make up a yearbook. And the enjoyment of working on these staffs does not come only when the yearbook is out, but also when you remember the laughs and tears of the people you worked with. The knowledge of your fellow man that you gain from this work far exceeds, in importance, the highest words of praise for the completed book. The staff of the 1963 Orient hopes that future Orient staffs will gain as much from the work they put into the book as we have.

BETA SIGMA HI-Y

Beta Sigma Hi-Y has had a successful year in regard to both social and service activities. Besides sponsoring such money-raising projects as a car wash and a shoe-lace sale, this organization provided a Christmas relief basket for a needy family and sent members to neighboring grammar schools as after school aides to gym teachers.

SENIOR FRENCH CLUB

The students of French at East High broaden their knowledge of France and French through the Senior French Club. Once again this year the club presented its traditional French Cafe at the Carnival. The club also published l'Etoile, a newspaper by the members, written entirely in French.

ROMAN STATE

The annual Slave Sale highlighted the year for East High's Roman State. This club, modeled after the form of the actual government of ancient Rome, has been active since the earliest days of East High School. The climax of the year will be the Roman Banquet held each year for the fourth year Virgil students.

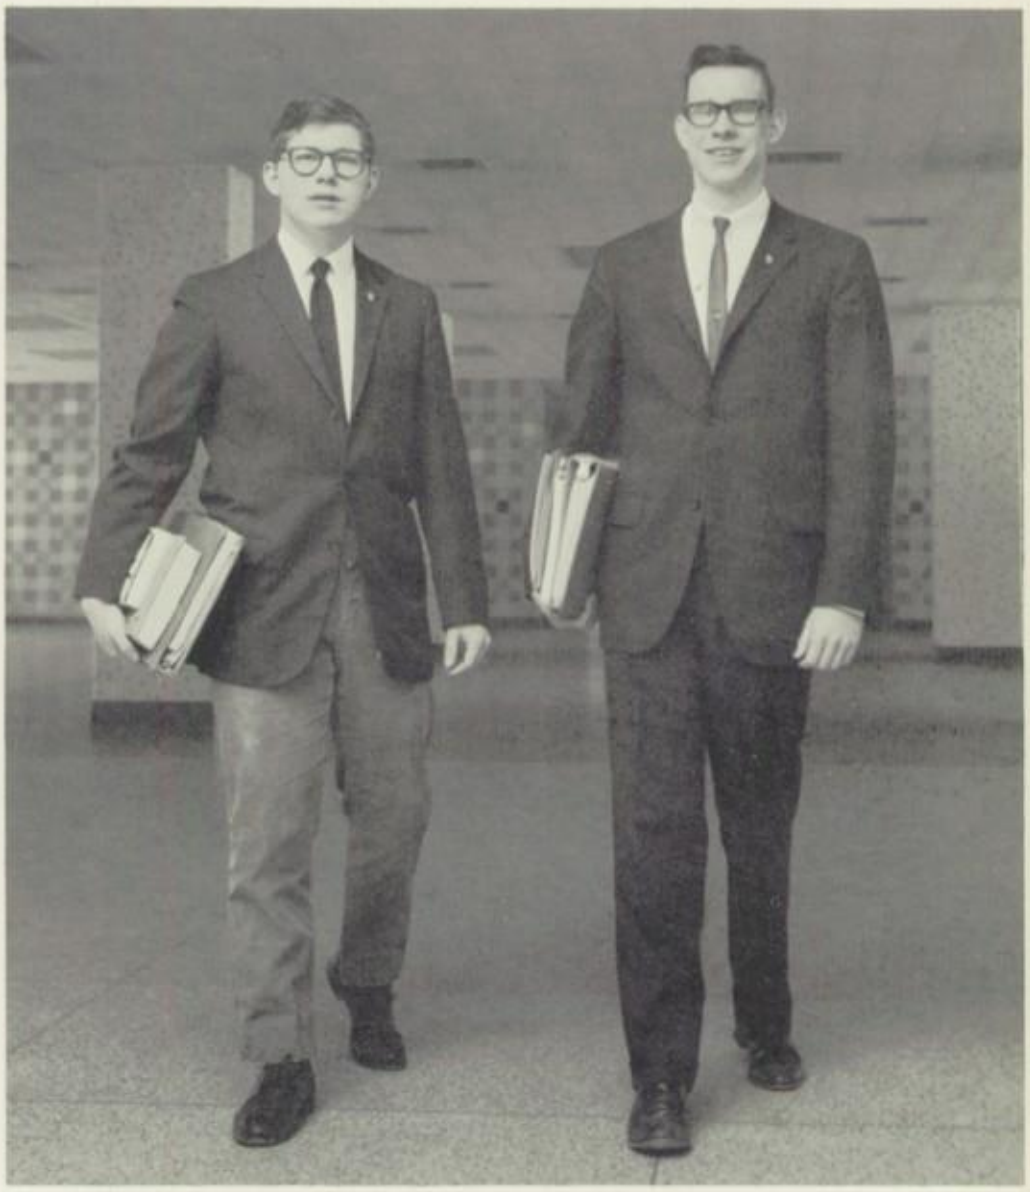
Student action in mock government

R.A.U.N.

Representing East High at the local Rochester Association for the United Nations (RAUN) this year were seniors Bob Ellison and John Marcille, who attended meetings regularly at the Chamber of Commerce. As members of the junior council of RAUN, these students were able to attend City Club meetings during the year and to interview the speakers. Each year the junior council holds a mock session of the Security Council, and takes a trip to New York to visit the UN legislative and administrative building complex.



R. A. U. N.—John Marcille, Robert Ellison.

EMPIRE BOYS' AND GIRLS' STATE

Each year the American Legion Auxiliary sponsors leadership training conventions through Empire Girls' and Boys' State. The purpose of these sessions on government operations is to provide guidance and experience for potential leaders throughout the state. At the Girls' State Convention at New Paltz, Sue Lusink was named Mayor of Kingston in a mock election held by the 300 girls attending. At Colgate University, East High School was well represented by three seniors: Steve Morris, John Valentine, and Bob Wilson. Such programs serve to train and encourage the future leaders of our country.

Each morning delightful music abruptly awakens every East High student and teacher from his homeroom reverie. This "mood music" is one of the services performed by the Audio-Visual Aides. The East High School band, under the direction of Mr. Charles Starke, makes a real contribution to both the school and the community. The stirring music of the band can be heard in both the Veterans' and Memorial Day parades, cheering the team at football games, and greeting the students as they enter for assemblies.

VARSITY CLUB

The members of the Varsity Club are those boys who have earned a varsity letter in one of the major sports at East High.

The purpose of the club is to promote school spirit in athletics. In order to accomplish this, the Varsity Club has done several things. It has sponsored record hops after basketball games in the hopes of increasing attendance. It has begun a tradition of Varsity Club blazers, so that our varsity athletes may be outstanding representatives of the East High School in public as well as when taking part in athletics. Finally, the Varsity Club attemps to recognize the individual athlete, as with its trophy for Outstanding Senior Athlete.

FOOTBALL

Behind the outstanding playing of Tom Diehl and Henry Cooper, the Orientals fought to a 4-4 record and fourth place, a respectable finish in a tough Interscholastic League. The team always gave 100% effort and each of the games was as exciting for us as any Giants-Packers game. Mr. Donovan, Mr. Panaggio, and Mr. McClean are to be congratulated on their fine coaching and on the exciting team they fielded.

CROSS COUNTRY

Led by All-scholastics Dick Young, Joe McVeigh and Jim Henny, the Oriental harriers dominated cross country again this year. The team, coached by the very able Mr. Terrell, won the League championship for the third year in a row, the City Championship Meet for the fourth year in a row, the Wolcott Invitational Meet and the Section 5 Championship Meet at Alfred.

The team has defeated 31 consecutive opponents in regular league meets. Besides that, the J.V. runners defeated all the other city teams to win the City Reserve Championship for the seventh straight year. Considering this, Mr. Terrell's fine coaching, and the fact that Jim Henny was All-scholastic as a Junior, the team should fare very well next year.

SOCCER

Under the coaching of Mr. Daly and later Mr. Almansberger, the soccer team played to a 5-4 loss record and fourth place in the Interscholastic League. The interest in soccer was stimulated tremendously by the scheduling of home games on our own field. Let us hope that in the future interest will grow even more.

BASKETBALL

Go team! That was the cry heard in East's halls for three months this winter. And go they did, coming out on top of the city's Interscholastic Basketball League for the second year in a row. Trained by the state's winningest coach, Mr. Mauro Panaggio, the team ended its regular season with a 17-1 record, its only loss being a two-pointer on Edison Tech's band-box court.

Going into the sectionals with tremendous spirit, the team looked like it was going all the way. First, East beat Genesee-Orleans champs, Batavia, 60-56, and then, in the semi-finals of Section 5, calmly eliminated Lyons 55-51. In the big championship game with E.R., East fought the Bombers down to the wire, only to lose on a last second shot, the luckiest in tournament history. Despite this heartbreaking 42-40 defeat, the team was the class of Section 5 in sportsmanship and teamwork. Congratulations to the Champs of East High!

WRESTLING

The wrestling team, under the very capable coaching of Mr. Almansberger, finished the season in third place in the Interscholastic League. Individually, Leo Fusilli and John Locagnina were city champions in their respective classes. John went on to prove himself the best 127 pound wrestler in the area by taking the Section 5 Championship in that division.

Coached by Mr. Donovan, the Junior Varsity squad ran up an impressive 7-1 record. Considering both their record and the fact that the Varsity squad isn't losing anyone by graduation, East High seems assured of good wrestling in the future.

SWIMMING

East's finmen again fared well in a very competitive league by winning 5, losing 3 and finishing 3rd in the Interscholastic League. Marty Haibach culminated a sensational, undefeated season in the individual medley by capturing both the City Championship and the Section 5 Championship in new record times. Bob Ellison, Bill Kuipers, and a freestyle relay team of Ellison, Kuipers, Haibach and Dave Smith each took a second place in the City Championship Meet.

The squad will lose only three swimmers through graduation, Bob Fllison, John Sciarrata, and Steve Haas, and being a young, experienced team, should have a good season next year.

BASEBALL—1962

Coach Rog Morse's team was able to play its home games at home last year. That is the team played on the East High ballfield instead of at Cobb's Hill. This undoubtedly was the reason for the added interest in the team. The team closed the season with a 3-5 record.

The J.V. team under Mr. Youngman won the City Championship in a round-robin tournament after the regular season.

Rochester is sometimes referred to as "the city that has everything." In business, industry and the professions, this is especially true. No matter what kind of a career appeals to you, there is an excellent chance that you can begin it right here. And the beginning is half the battle won!

It goes without saying that the first step is your formal education—as much as you can get. Employers look for this first. The next thing they look for is "brightness." And one key to "brightness" is how much you actually know about the kind of work you're going after. This is something you don't inherit from anybody. It is information you gather in advance for yourself—from parents, teachers, counselors, and friends. Most important—employers themselves are always ready to explain their standards and requirements.

Your idea of the best career for your particular talents may change, as you acquire more and more information about different fields of work. But when you decide what you want to do, some employer in the Rochester area will really want you—because by analyzing yourself, you have made yourself valuable.
